

---

<sup>b</sup>
UNIVERSITÄT
BERN

Faculty of Sciences

Institute of Plant Sciences

We are looking to hire a

Research Technician / Collaborator in Analytical Chemistry, Metabolomics and Data Analysis (80-100%)

We expect: An MSc. or PhD degree in a relevant research field. Experience in maintaining and running high resolution mass spectrometry, liquid and gas chromatography systems. Method development and data analysis skills to deal with complex extracts. A high degree of independence. Strong motivation, problem-solving skills, and a technical flair. A service- and team-oriented personality. Good English skills, both written and oral.

We offer: A dynamic research environment with a strong commitment to excellent science with societal impact. A vibrant university environment and high quality of life. A competitive salary according to university guidelines. A clear perspective for long-term employment, including possibilities for professional development.

How to apply: Send the following documents as a single pdf to matthias.erb@ips.unibe.ch: CV, university grades, contact details of 3 references and a short letter of motivation (max. 1 page). Suitable candidates will be interviewed online followed by an invitation for visit the IPS. The position is open until filled. Earliest possible project start is December 2020.

More information: Prof. Matthias Erb, Institute of Plant Sciences, Altenbergrain 21, 3013 Bern, Switzerland. Tel. +41 31 631 86 68, <http://www.ips.unibe.ch/content/interactions>. For detailed questions about the position, contact Tobias Züst, tobias.zuest@ips.unibe.ch.